

South Carolina Youth Soccer Members,

An important goal of South Carolina Youth Soccer is to bring additional value and support to our members. The coronavirus pandemic has resulted in cancelled training, games, and events. This has created new challenges for our soccer community. We are leveraging partnerships to try and respond to these challenges, Jungo Sports is one of these partnerships.

Jungo has created an ecosystem tool that is designed to support our existing infrastructure and enhance our communication, connection, and opportunities. It is player centric, so players own their experience and coaches, scouts, and administrators help guide the player on the journey. It is relative now because the platform allows us to continue player and family engagement in development, college placement and player identification in a virtual environment, while events or team training are on hold.

We have partnered with Jungo Sports to provide a free platform to our membership that compliments player development, college placement, and player identification opportunities. This platform connects players, clubs, college programs, and your state association to build a stronger soccer community that supports our South Carolina players and organizations.

- Player Development - Players can connect with State ODP, club, and high school coaches and can request ratings from the coaches they know and trust. Jungo provides an option to see specific coach evaluation notes and video links (YouTube, etc) focused for individual at home training.
- College Placement - Players can search college programs they are interested in, review the college placement checklist and communicate with their coaches on recommended schools. Jungo provides an option for high school players to receive Jungo college recommendations based on level of play after the the player has received two or more coaches' ratings
- Player Identification - Coaches can recommend players to college programs and scouts; sending player profiles with highlight videos.
